That China is Getting the Worst of It--A German Paper Warns Its Readers Against Lending Money to Heavens.

Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 18.--The steamer Empress of Japan has arrived from the Orient. When on the way between Hong Kong and Yokohama the steamer struck a monster whale, cutting it almost in two. Pieces of the animal stuck to the bows of the vessel and had to be taken off, as they impeded the vessel's progress.

The formal declaration of war, as published in the Japanese official gazette, reads as follows:

Formal Declaration.

"We, the emperor of the empire of great Japan, having ascended the throne by virtue of lineal succession unbroken for ages eternal, fully assured of heavenly aid, do announce to all our brave and loyal subjects that we hereby declare war against China.

"All our officials and officers, with a view to the carrying out of our intentions, should devote themselves to warlike matters, or to carrying on the war against China, and in all respects strive to further the national object.

"They are ordered to leave nothing undone, but on the contrary, to use every means to this end within the limits of their respective offices, in a manner not prejudicial to international law.

"Over twenty years have now elapsed since our accession to the throne. During this time we have consistently pursued the policy of peace, being deeply impressed with a sense of the undesirability of being in strained relations with other nations, and have endeavored to promote friendship with all the treaty powers. Fortunately, our intercourse with the nations has continued to increase in intimacy.

"Contrary to our expectations, however, every act of China towards this country in connection with the affairs of Korea has been opposed to the principles of good faith and friendship.

"Korea is an independent country, which was first induced by Japan to open its doors to the world, and to take its place among the nations of the world. Yet China has always described it as her tributary and has openly and secretly interfered with its internal affairs. On the recent insurrection breaking out in the peninsula, China, on the pretext that she meant to protect her tributary from anarchy, attempted to annex it.

"We, by virtue of the provisions of the convention of 1885, dispatched troops to Korea to deal with the emergency, and also made efforts to maintain peace and order in the country. We asked China to co-operate in the maintenance of peace, but on various pretexts, declined our request.

"We thereupon advised Korea to remedy the abuses in her administration and strengthen the guarantees of the convention. China, however, perfecting her privileges as an independent nation. China adopted the suggestions of this country. China, of course, every day, and caused a delay in the carrying out of reforms and that country moreover began the preparation of land and sea forces with a view to war. On the completion of her preparations, she attempted to achieve the object of her ambition with reference to Korea, dispatching more troops to that country and attempting to annex it. In the Korean peace she thus acted in a manner an exceedingly lawless fashion. It is now beyond doubt that the project of China is to destroy the authority responsible for the maintenance of peace in Korea and to degrade into obscurity that country which Japan introduced to the world as an independent nation; to ignore the treaties which clearly declared her independence and to thereby to injure the rights and interests of Japan and destroy forever all assurance of peace in the east. Judging from the action of China, so far, her scheme must have aimed at the sacrifice of all peaceful guarantees and the accomplishment of all costs of her own objects. To this stage the situation has now developed.

"Though it has always been our desire to maintain peace with all nations and in doing so to display the glory of our empire at home and abroad, we have now in course open to us but to declare war, in the hope that we may be able to restore peace in good time and thus to vindicate the prestige of Japan by the loyalty and bravery of our subjects."

BLOODY BATTLE.

A Thousand Were Killed on Each Side and Many Wounded.

Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 18.--The following is the report received by the steamer Empress of Japan:

A bloody battle between China and Japan was fought at Selk on July 29.
The Chinese were moving on Seoul when they were followed by the Japanese.
The fight took place at 3 o'clock in the morning. There were six thousand Chinese with forty cannon and five thousand Japanese engaged. A thousand were killed on each side and as many more wounded by arrows and bullets. One English officer is said to have been killed. The Japanese made a brilliant charge on the Chinese and drove them to the city of Selk, where the fight raged furiously for five hours. Finally the Chinese, at the sacrifice of several cannon and 300 wounded on the field, said to have been afterward butchered, retired in fair order to Koshu, where they fortified themselves the Korean ships. The Japanese army followed them to Asan, where another battle took place, the Chinese going off the ships with wild yells to meet them. Of this battle no official word can be gained.

The Chinese are fortifying all points of vantage as if expecting a lengthy war. Both Chinese and Japanese troops continue to pour into Korea, and it is expected that in a short time one of the greatest battles numerically of modern times will take place in the disputed territory.

Christians Assaulted.

The news has been confirmed that Mr. and Mrs. Gardner, Mr. Fox and Mrs. Fox, were assaulted at Seoul, Korea, by Japanese soldiers. It is said that the Chinese were expressing views friendly to the Chinese in relation to the present trouble. They were chased with swords, thrown down and beaten in the face, besides being stoned. Mrs.
Gardner is seriously affected by her injuries. The trouble was started by Osborne attempting to save his coolie Chinese servant, who was being killed by a Japanese soldier. When Osborne interfered the cry was raised, "Down with the Christian sympathizers of China."

By the Lantern's Light.

The Yokohama Nippon says: On the 25th of July a naval fight took place at Yokohama bay, starting off there and ending at Nanyang. The ships engaged were a second rate Chinese man-of-war and a second rate Japanese man-of-war. The former was victorious, but she was disabled with bullet and shot and her deck flowing with blood, chased her foe out of the bay.
The latter being faster steamed away and at night the Chinese war ship approached the Japanese and a bloody and bloody contest was renewed by light from lanterns.

FRENCH OFFICER'S STORY.

He Doesn't Think Much of Either

Nation as Sea Fighters.

Victoria, B. C., Aug. 18.--A letter just received by a friend in this city from M. Gustav Le Fanu, one of the officers of the French cruiser Lyon, serving for some time past on the China station, contains an interesting account of the story and incidents of the Chinese-Japanese war, which had but fairly opened when it was dispatched.

The Lyon, it will be remembered, was the gun boat instrumental in terminating the operations of the Chinese pirates, and she also was the only vessel which sank the Kow Shing, the Chinese steamship. Kow Shing, carrying Chinese troops, by the Japanese cruiser Naniwa. The latter incident of the campaign M. Le Fanu refers to at length in his letter. He says:

"I don't think much of either the Japanese or the Chinese as sea fighters. It seems a shame to give good ships and modern arms to such a set of cowardly butchers. When the Kow Shing affair it was nothing but cold-blooded murder. We fell in with the Naniwa on the 23rd of July. She was under full steam and making great headway. The Naniwa was outside of the Kow Shing, sending boats back and forth in the night. I inferred that she had business on foot and followed her to see what it was. She overhauled the Kow Shing and two smaller craft.
The Kow Shing was under way, and Shojo Island, early in the morning of the 25th. The Kow Shing was flying her British colors and so was the Too Man. The Naniwa showed no colors at all, and the Japanese and the Naniwa came along.

"The Japanese gunboat dropped her anchors when she was within signaling distance and we did the same. Two boats were lowered from the Naniwa, and her officers spent several hours on
Kow Shing and two smaller craft.

Nothing But Butchery.

"The next we knew, two hours later, the trading steamer was under full steam, and the Naniwa was standing out for the open, cleared for action.
There was not then half or a quarter of the men on the two, but nevertheless the battle was a very close one.
